

Scoring Criteria for Potential Domestic Violence Projects

Since Domestic Violence Projects are exempted from entering client level data into the HMIS system, the ranking and review committee will not utilize the data elements identified in the Projects score card above.

Projects submitted by the Domestic Violence Service provider will be evaluated for its potential to meet the current level of identified need within the Continuum of Care for the specific type of service identified in the potential project, as determined by key variables, including but not limited to the following:

The number of individuals and/or families who attributed their homeless status on the night of the PIT count to domestic violence. (increase, decrease)

The number of individuals and or families who self-identified or were referred for assistance to the Homeless Resource Center or other hub facilities of the Continuum of Care during the same reporting time as systems performance report. (increase, decrease)

The potential for the proposed project to address or eliminate victimization, vulnerability to further victimization, potential exploitation or coercion to engage in risky behaviors.(safety planning, housing supports, supports for children of victims including educational needs)

Adherence to the CoC program model including Housing First wherever possible including:
